

MICROSTRUCTURE OF MACROINTERFACES IN SHAPE-MEMORY ALLOYS

MARTIN LENZ

We discuss a model for the geometry of arrays of needle microstructures and numerical simulations, appropriate for macrointerfaces of two compound twinned variants of martensite in a plane stress setting. The energy-minimizing needle geometry is determined with tools from shape optimization.